

ABSTRACT

Various embodiments for mixed metal oxide layers and methods of making mixed metal oxide layers are described herein. A mixed metal oxide layer formed according to the various embodiments of the invention comprises spinning one or more intermediate layers of a nanoparticle suspension on a substrate, drying and firing the intermediate layers to form the mixed metal oxide layer.